collaborating on the CCD Programme

Background

Council approved General Committee recommendation GC-0331-2021 on June 16, 2021, to support the City of Mississauga becoming a member of the Cities Changing Diabetes (CCD) Programme. Mississauga has the second highest rate of diabetes in Peel.

The corporate report titled “Cities Changing Diabetes Programme,” dated May 6, 2021 (Appendix 1), states that the City will be the first Canadian City to sign the Urban Diabetes Declaration. All cities participating in the CCD Programme have signed the declaration signalling a commitment to the five guiding principles to accelerate action to prevent Type 2 diabetes. The five principles are:

1. Invest in the promotion of health and well-being
2. Address social and cultural determinants and strive for health equity
3. Integrate health into all policies
4. Engage communities to ensure sustainable health solutions
5. Create solutions in partnerships across sectors

Comments

By signing the Declaration (Appendix 2), Council confirms its’ commitment to diabetes prevention and to the development of a Mississauga Type 2 Diabetes Prevention Strategy. The signing of the Declaration on November 10, 2021 also aligns with World Diabetes Day, November 14, 2021. World Diabetes Day is recognized every year on November 14, the birthday of Sir Frederick Banting, who co-discovered insulin along with Charles Best in 1922 at a University of Toronto laboratory.

As the City launches into the multi-year CCD Programme, staff recommend that a Relationship Agreement be executed with Novo Nordisk to outline roles and responsibilities within the collaboration. Novo Nordisk is headquartered in Denmark, and has an office in Mississauga. Their staff have been working with City staff on this collaboration for over a year.

The Relationship Agreement between the City and Novo Nordisk will address matters such as:

- scope and objective of the “relationship” to assist the City in understanding the Type 2 diabetes challenge in Mississauga; set goals and timelines for halting the increase of Type 2 diabetes and to work across sectors and disciplines to unite stakeholders in a quest to reduce Type 2 diabetes
- the City’s use of CCD resources and programme tools for project research and community engagement
- how and what information will be shared between the City and Novo Nordisk, and its application

| | | |
| Council | 2021/10/26 | 3 |
|---------|------------|---|

- roles and responsibilities for community and stakeholder engagement
- roles and responsibilities for communication and marketing of the City's participation in the CCD Programme.

Strategic Plan

Signing the Urban Diabetes Declaration demonstrates Council's commitment to healthy and connected communities aligned with the Connect pillar of the Strategic Plan.

Financial Impact

There is no financial impact associated with the recommendations of this report. Any future costs related to working in collaboration with the CCD Programme will be covered through approved City operational budgets and Novo Nordisk as outlined in the Relationship Agreement.

Conclusion

The launch of the City's participation in the CCD Programme through the signing of the Urban Diabetes Declaration is a significant milestone demonstrating the City's commitment to Type 2 diabetes prevention. It is appropriate to align this milestone with World Diabetes Day on November 14. The recommended Relationship Agreement will enable a seamless collaboration with the CCD Programme.

Background

On April 21, 2021, Council adopted resolution 0081-2021, attached as Appendix 1, that staff provide a report to Council on the necessary steps for the City of Mississauga to become a member of Cities Changing Diabetes (CCD) programme, including resource impacts and outcomes. CCD is a program launched in 2014 by the Steno Diabetes Center Copenhagen, University College London, and Novo Nordisk to address the growth of type 2 diabetes and obesity.

Type 2 diabetes occurs when the pancreas does not produce enough insulin and/or when the body does not adequately use the insulin produced. Type 2 diabetes is considered preventable because there are a number of well-established behavioural and modifiable risk factors including maintaining a healthy body weight, maintaining a nutritious diet, staying physically active and eliminating tobacco use. Important non-modifiable risk factors for diabetes include age, gender, family history and ethnicity. Certain ethnic groups, including Asian, South Asian, Arab, Black, Hispanic and Indigenous populations, are at an increased risk of Type 2 diabetes.

Mississauga is one of the most diverse municipalities in Canada, with 51.3% of residents self-identifying as South Asian, Chinese, Black, Filipino, Latin American, Arab, or Southeast Asian. The risk factors in these populations are further compounded by the fact that 53.6% of adults in Peel Region are considered overweight or obese, the single biggest modifiable risk factor for developing Type 2 Diabetes.

The CCD programme is designed to address the social and cultural factors that can increase type 2 diabetes vulnerability among certain people living in urban environments. Today, the programme has established local partnerships in 36 cities around the world, reaching more than 150 million individuals to help prevent and control urban diabetes.

The CCD programme is built on three interconnected elements: Map, Share, and Act. The programme enables cities to understand their own urban type 2 diabetes challenge, to set goals for halting the rise of type 2 diabetes in their city, and to work across sectors and disciplines to unite stakeholders behind a common cause.

Cities who join the programme get a global overview of the challenges associated with urban diabetes and have access to key insights and learnings from solutions around the world and can determine if there is a solution from the toolkit that could be applied locally. The programme is focussed on community-based actions, and working with local stakeholders to develop local solutions.

Present Status

According to the Region of Peel's 2019 report entitled "The Changing Landscape of Health in Peel", Type 2 diabetes accounts for 90% of all diagnosed diabetes cases in Canada and is the fastest growing chronic disease.

The report also states that the number of incident cases of diabetes in Peel increased by 182% between 1996 and 2015. This increase is due to the aging and growing population and changes in diabetes risk. Older Peel residents, those aged 60 to 79 years, have the highest incidence of diabetes. However, younger individuals are increasingly being diagnosed with diabetes and over the last two decades, the incidence rate in Peel for those aged 20 to 49 years doubled which is a trend not seen in other age groups. In 2015, there were 161,342 cases of diabetes and by 2024, it is projected that there will be a total of 100,194 additional diabetes cases in Peel. Mississauga has the second-highest rate of diabetes in Peel.

Additionally, research shows that those living with diabetes are more likely to develop severe symptoms and complications as a result of contracting COVID-19 than those without diabetes. In 2020, the United Nations General Assembly adopted a resolution recognizing that people living with diabetes are at a higher risk of developing severe COVID-19 symptoms and are among the most impacted by the pandemic.

The City, through its various departments, has implemented numerous programs and initiatives that contribute to healthy living and diabetes prevention. Examples include:

- The introduction of a Healthy Food & Beverage Policy for Recreation Facilities to promote healthier eating by increasing the range of healthier food and beverage choices available through Concession Services and Vending Machines
- Promoting Active Transportation through implementation of the cycling master plan, planning and programming improvements to the City's cycling and pedestrian infrastructure, developing and implementing education and awareness programs and events related to active transportation and building new multi-use trails and protected cycling infrastructure to encourage a more active lifestyle
- Offering and promoting healthy living activities such as fitness and wellness programs, and the management and operation of over 500 parks and supporting trail networks
- Implementing the Economic Development Strategy that promotes a more human centred approach to development, decreasing residents' reliance on cars and creating an environment that is more welcoming for walking to boost activity levels
- Implementing a refined Healthy by Design Questionnaire to evaluate development applications from a health perspective based on the results of the completed 2-year pilot program
- Adoption of Resolution 0207-2020 to address systemic discrimination and inequities within Mississauga, including accessibility to resources, services and supports for Black and Indigenous residents
- Managing a Community Gardens program which provides residents access to shared spaces to grow food and encourage active and healthy living

- Developing an Urban Agriculture Strategy to identify the City's role in supporting corporate and community efforts to increase urban-scale food production across Mississauga
- Hosting webinars with community partners and stakeholders to raise awareness on diabetes prevention.

Comments

By becoming a member of CCD, Mississauga will be the only active Canadian CCD city and Mayor Crombie will be the first Canadian Mayor to sign the Urban Diabetes Declaration. The full declaration is included as Appendix 2. This declaration is signed by all CCD cities, and signals a commitment to accelerate action to prevent type 2 diabetes with a set of five guiding principles.

The programme will run over the next 3 to 5 years depending on the specific programme components developed for Mississauga. The programme enables cities to understand their own urban diabetes challenge, to set their own unique goals for halting the rise of type 2 diabetes in their city, and to work across sectors and disciplines to unite stakeholders behind a common cause.

Benefits of Joining CCD

The CCD programme provides Briefing Books, the Urban Diabetes Toolbox, and the Urban Diabetes Action Framework, which are effective engagement tools that provide decision-makers and City practitioners with a common understanding of the severity of urban diabetes and how to take action to prevent its rise. Through an existing programme partnership with University Toronto at Mississauga (UTM), funding is provided to assist with research, while a CCD advisory board comprised of a wide variety of community stakeholders will be created and community roundtables will be held.

The City will be able to leverage existing City-run healthy living activities and programs through the integration of CCD programme resources and will also be able to develop specific CCD programme activities as needed.

Implementing CCD in Mississauga will illustrate how municipal governments can be leaders in chronic disease prevention, and cooperate with industry, health care partners, community groups and academia to realize synergies and work towards a common goal.

Responsibilities of the City in the Programme in the First Three Years

The City's participation in the CCD programme will be lead by staff from the Strategic Initiatives Division in the City Manager's department. Staff will work with a cross-departmental internal working group as needed throughout the duration of the programme.

The following outlines the main tasks for the first three years of the programme.

Year One (2021)

- Signing of the Urban Diabetes Declaration by Mayor Crombie

- Assisting in the establishment of a Research Lead, funded by the CCD programme, to aggregate existing research on type 2 diabetes and obesity in Mississauga, and to apply this research to the Urban Diabetes Toolbox
- Assisting in coordinating, hosting and participating in a series of targeted virtual roundtables, to outline the goals of CCD, introduce the Urban Diabetes Action Framework, and build a stakeholder network
- Participating in the Official Launch of CCD Mississauga to coincide with World Diabetes Day in November

Year Two and Year Three (2022 and 2023)

- Assisting in the recruitment of a City Connector funded through the programme. This would be an individual based at UTM connecting the City, the programme, health care partners, the academic community and stakeholders, and assist with roundtables and facilitating initiatives
- Assisting in establishing and announcing a CCD Advisory Board, to include City staff, industry, academia, community groups, faith groups, recreational sports leagues, subject matter experts and others
- Assisting in developing and implementing the step-by-step programme components specific to Mississauga through the Urban Diabetes Action Framework and Urban Diabetes Toolbox
- Participating in a CCD Forum to review progress to date, publicize the findings of the Research Lead, and engage new stakeholders

Financial Impact

There is no financial impact associated with the recommendations of this report as there is no fee for joining the CCD programme. Any future costs related to implementation of the programme will be covered through approved operational budgets and through programme partners and sponsors.

Conclusion

Joining the CCD programme is a commitment to take action on type 2 diabetes over the next three to five years and will provide the City with tools, resources and partners to actively prevent the rise of type 2 diabetes in Mississauga.

THE URBAN DIABETES DECLARATION

THE DIABETES CHALLENGE

Diabetes is rising at an alarming rate around the world. Given the devastating human and economic cost of diabetes and its complications, individuals, communities, healthcare systems and societies are being put under unsustainable pressure.

More than half of the world's population lives in cities. Cities are engines of economic growth and innovation. Yet some of the drivers of their prosperity also lead to widening health inequalities. Urban environments significantly impact how people live, travel, play, work and eat — factors that, in combination, affect the rise in diabetes. This puts cities on the front line of the diabetes challenge.

City leaders' closeness to the lives of their citizens and their ability to drive change puts city leaders in a prime position to tackle the challenge and bend the curve on diabetes.

The city of X recognises the need to accelerate city action to prevent diabetes and its complications. There is great potential to improve health and well-being, combat health inequalities, reduce long-term costs, and ensure productivity and growth in our cities.

As a partner city in Cities Changing Diabetes, city X is committed to five principles to guide the actions we deliver to respond to the diabetes challenge. We will:

- 1 INVEST IN THE PROMOTION OF HEALTH AND WELL-BEING

Cities have great potential to be health-promoting environments. This will require a shift towards viewing the prevention of diabetes and its complications as a long-term investment rather than a short-term cost. Therefore, we must prioritise health-promoting policies and actions to improve health and well-being for all.
- 2 ADDRESS SOCIAL AND CULTURAL DETERMINANTS AND STRIVE FOR HEALTH EQUITY

Social and cultural determinants are root causes that shape citizens' opportunities for healthy living. Striving for health equity is essential in order to provide healthy opportunities for all. Therefore, we must address social and cultural determinants in order to make the healthy choice the easier choice.
- 3 INTEGRATE HEALTH INTO ALL POLICIES

Health is linked to other policy agendas, including social, employment, housing and environmental policies. To improve the health and well-being of citizens, health must be integrated into decision-making processes across departments and be driven by shared policy goals. Therefore, we must coordinate action across departments to integrate health into all policies.
- 4 ENGAGE COMMUNITIES TO ENSURE SUSTAINABLE HEALTH SOLUTIONS

Health is largely created outside the healthcare sector, namely in community settings where people live their everyday lives. Health actions should move beyond the individual level to include the community settings where social norms that shape behaviour are created. Therefore, we must actively engage communities in order to strengthen social cohesion and drive sustainable health-promoting actions.
- 5 CREATE SOLUTIONS IN PARTNERSHIP ACROSS SECTORS

Health is a shared responsibility. Creating sustainable solutions demands that all members of society acknowledge the health impact of their actions. Combining competences and pooling resources and networks are prerequisites to creating innovative, effective and sustainable solutions. Therefore, we must work together to share the responsibility for creating solutions, as no single entity can solve the challenge alone.

Therefore, we must coordinate action across departments to integrate health into all policies.
- 4 ENGAGE COMMUNITIES TO ENSURE SUSTAINABLE HEALTH SOLUTIONS
Health is largely created outside the healthcare sector, namely in community settings where people live their everyday lives. Health actions should move beyond the individual level to include the community settings where social norms that shape behaviour are created. Therefore, we must actively engage communities in order to strengthen social cohesion and drive sustainable health-promoting actions.
- 5 CREATE SOLUTIONS IN PARTNERSHIP ACROSS SECTORS
Health is a shared responsibility. Creating sustainable solutions demands that all members of society acknowledge the health impact of their actions. Combining competences and pooling resources and networks are prerequisites to creating innovative, effective and sustainable solutions. Therefore, we must work together to share the responsibility for creating solutions, as no single entity can solve the challenge alone.

Recommendation

1. 2. That the City of Mississauga Adopt the renewed Land Acknowledgement and Statement of Reconciliation and that Council mandate its use for all Standing and Advisory Committee meetings.

Executive Summary

- In 2015, The Truth and Reconciliation Commission of Canada published 94 Calls to Action to forward Reconciliation between Indigenous and Non-Indigenous peoples in Canada.
- Thirteen of these Calls to Action are directed at all Municipal Governments across Canada, and nine of these are actionable by the City.
- One Call to Action involves the Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples, which staff recommend that the City recognizes.
- The City is currently taking action on all nine, and taking further action on an additional four Calls to Action.

- In 2017, The City of Mississauga formally adopted an Indigenous Land Statement. Staff recommend renewing this statement as a Land Acknowledgement and Reconciliation Statement.

Background

The City of Mississauga formally created the Indigenous Relations Unit within the Culture Division in 2020. The mandate of the unit is to provide advice and guidance to staff and Council on matters pertaining to work with our Indigenous Treaty partners and residents. Indigenous Relations brought forward two reports to Council in November, 2020, which recommended a renewal of the City's relationship with the Mississaugas of the Credit First Nation by raising their flag in Council Chambers and amending the naming of the City bylaw to recognize the Ojibwe language from which it originated.

The reports further documented the actions the City was taking in relation to the 94 Calls to Action of the Truth and Reconciliation Commission and to further strengthen our relationship with the Peel Indigenous Network and Friendship Centres in Ontario. The report also recommended an annual reconciliation report be brought to Council, prior to submission to the National Centre for Truth and Reconciliation.

The City of Mississauga has been using an Indigenous Land Statement in advance of Council meetings since 2017. This statement acknowledged the lands within which the City of Mississauga is located with regards to Treaty partners and traditional territory.

Comments

Recent events have brought to light truths regarding the ongoing nature, and history, of Canada's relationship with Indigenous Peoples. The tragic documentation of unmarked burials at multiple Residential Schools, combined with ongoing boil water advisories and the legal action through appeals against decisions for survivors have raised the challenges faced by Indigenous Peoples to a national level. The City of Mississauga remains committed to Truth and Reconciliation and we continue to renew our relationship with our Treaty Partners.

The City has taken several notable actions over the past year in its efforts to renew and strengthen our relationships with Indigenous communities and residents. The City has entered into an agreement with the Peel Indigenous Network to provide them office and programming space within Clarke Hall, and likewise barrier-free access was provided for the Water Gathering Ceremony, hosted by Akina Maagaye Gammik Lodge in Erindale Park. Ensuring that Indigenous Peoples can access public spaces freely within the City works to uphold their Treaty Rights.

The City has further engaged in multiple projects to make our public spaces Indigenous in nature, integrating Indigenous feedback, design, and knowledge into multiple park projects, such as the Marina and West Memorial Park redevelopment, the Credit Meadows park development and the Lakeview parklands strategy. The City continues to engage with our Treaty and traditional territory partners on all City-led land development projects.

City Staff programmed two days of significance; National Indigenous Peoples Day and the National Day of Truth and Reconciliation; the former incorporating content provided by the Mississaugas of the Credit First Nation and the later focusing on raising awareness and education, focusing on the truths which have come into focus this past year. Both events had a combined engagement of approximately 10,000 individuals through onsite programming, online and social media content.

The City has partnered with the Mississaugas of the Credit First Nation to be a municipal partner in the Moccasin Identifier project, a place making initiative created by former Chief Carolyn King which seeks to return erased Indigenous footprints within urbanized area. The Moccasin Identifier was showcased at both National Indigenous Peoples Day and the National Day of Truth and Reconciliation within Celebration Square. City representation have been offered a place within the Steering Committee for this Indigenous project.

The City continues to provide learning opportunities to our staff to raise cultural awareness. These opportunities include two Indigenous speakers; Tanya Talaga and Niigaan Sinclair, as well two Equity Alerts and an Indigenous Learning Toolkit. Human Resources, Strategic Communications & Initiatives and the Culture Division have been working with NVision Insight Group from Ottawa, an organization where 60% of employees are Indigenous, to purchase a series of eLearning modules on the History of Indigenous Peoples. A more comprehensive report regarding this mandatory learning will be brought forward to the LT in 2022.

Reconciliation affects all divisions within the City, and efforts have been demonstrated in almost every division to ensure that the City continues to include Indigenous perspectives, considerations and comments into our collective work as a municipality. Mayor and Council have demonstrated a commitment to reconciliation, passing a resolution in June of this year to ask the Federal government to cease the appeals against the Human Rights Tribunal decision to award support to survivors of Residential Schools and the Sixties Scoop. This resolution was sent to the Federal Government and to all municipalities across Canada, with several other municipalities taking up the call and responding in kind.

In light of the increased awareness of the challenges facing Indigenous Peoples, staff recommend renewing the Land Acknowledgement and combining it with a Statement of Reconciliation (Appendix 1). The Land Acknowledgement is a refresh on the existing Indigenous Land Statement which was first used in 2017. The intent of these statements are to be renewed periodically so they do not become static and performative. Staff also recommend extending their use to all Standing and Advisory committee meetings. The renewed acknowledgment and statement will also be published on the City website for use by residents, along with support guidance on their appropriate use.

Finally, there are nine Calls to Action from the Truth and Reconciliation Commission which apply to municipalities such as the City of Mississauga. The City is taking action on all nine, as well as an additional four (Appendix 2). Staff recommend that the City formally recognizes the United Nations Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples (UNDRIP), in line with the United Nations Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples Act which received royal assent earlier this year. It is expected that the current Duty to Consult and Engagement framework currently in place under Federal and Provincial legislation may change as a result of the above Act. More details will be made available within a three-year timeline as set out in the above Act.

Engagement and Consultation

The wording on the Land Acknowledgement was completed in Consultation with the Mississaugas of the Credit First Nation and the Six Nations of the Grand River.

Financial Impact

There is no financial impact for adopting the Truth and Reconciliation Calls to Action in this report as funds for the initiatives have already been approved in the operational budgets of various departments across the City.

Conclusion

The City of Mississauga continues to work towards reconciliation. The process of reconciliation involves reconsidering many of the standard practices which govern municipal processes and hearing truths which are uncomfortable and challenging. It is in taking these actions that the City continues to honour and respect the Treaties which were signed for the land, and the Indigenous Peoples who have lived here since time immemorial.

City of Mississauga Renewed Land Acknowledgement and Statement of Reconciliation

We acknowledge the lands which constitute the present-day City of Mississauga as being part of the Treaty and Traditional Territory of the Mississaugas of the Credit First Nation, The Haudenosaunee Confederacy the Huron-Wendat and Wyandotte Nations. We recognize these peoples and their ancestors as peoples who inhabited these lands since time immemorial. The City of Mississauga is home to many global Indigenous Peoples.

As a municipality, the City of Mississauga is actively working towards reconciliation by confronting our past and our present, providing space for Indigenous peoples within their territory, to recognize and uphold their Treaty Rights and to support Indigenous Peoples.
