A Method for Your Means

Smoking

Between cannabinoids to enter the bloodstream the effects are felt almost instantly.
Onset Time: 1-5 Minutes
Peak Effect: 10 Minutes - 1.5 Hours

Under The Tongue

Oral use sub-lingually, bypassing the digestive system so the effects can be felt sooner.
Onset Time: 5-15 Minutes
Peak Effect: 15 Minutes - 2 Hours

Ingestion

With ingestion, cannabinoids are passed through the digestive system where they convert to THC. This results in a much stronger and longer-lasting high.
Onset Time: 30 Minutes - 2 Hours
Peak Effect: 2 - 4 Hours

Vaping

Heating a liquid form of cannabis into a vapor to be inhaled. This allows for more precise, milder dosing.
Onset Time: 5 - 10 Minutes
Peak Effect: 10 Minutes - 1.5 Hours

Topicals

Used for aches & pains, topicals are non-psychoactive as cannabinoids don't enter the bloodstream.
Onset Time: 1 - 10 Minutes
Peak Effect: 10 Minutes - 2 Hours

Types of Cannabis

Sativa

Taller, thinner plants that are associated with producing an uplifting, energizing high.

Indica

Shorter, stockier plants that are associated with a physically sedating, "couch-lock" effect.

Hybrids

Most cannabis plants are considered hybrids, falling somewhere between sativa and indica.

CBD

CBD dominant strains have little to no psychoactive effects and are known to promote feelings of well-being.
