Background

Following the 2022 Municipal Election, a review was conducted and a summary has been provided in this Report. This Report has been compiled with input from the Information Technology Division (I.T.), the Strategic Communications and Initiatives Division, and the Elections Office.

The Association of Municipal Managers, Clerks and Treasurers of Ontario (AMCTO) is working on compiling various statistics pertaining to election practices across other municipalities in Ontario. This information will provide more details of elections and the election technology used across the Province, however, the information is not available yet. Staff have instead included some information provided by the Association of Municipalities Ontario (AMO) and the Ministry of Municipal Affairs and Housing (the Ministry). When the information from the AMCTO becomes available, it will be circulated.

Voter Turnout

The voter turnout for the 2022 Mississauga Municipal Election was 21.84% compared to 26.49% in 2018. Most municipalities also experienced a decrease in voter turnout for the 2022 Municipal Election. For comparison, voter turnout in other municipalities is listed below, sorted by the greatest percentage of voter turnout change:

Municipality	Voter Turnout 2018	Voter Turnout 2022	% Change
London	39.40%	25.50%	-13.90%
Burlington	39.79%	27.60%	-12.19%
Toronto	41%	29%	-12%
Brampton	34.50%	24.56%	-9.94%
Guelph	37.16%	27.84%	-9.32%
Oakville	37.08%	28.30%	-8.78%
Milton	37%	28.98%	-8.02%
Kitchener	28.22%	20.26%	-7.96%

Hamilton	38.36%	35.38	-2.98%
Caledon	32.28%	31.73%	-0.55%
Ottawa	42.55%	43.78%	1.23%
Wilmot	37.80%	40.35%	2.55%
Woolwich	31.30%	34.70%	3.40%

AMO reports that based on information from 385 Ontario municipalities, the average voter turnout in 2022 was 36.30%, down from 38.30% in 2018. The reason for the decrease is difficult to determine however, anecdotally, many candidates noted that while door knocking they found that voters seemed disengaged and were tired of voting. With this in mind, it is reasonable to suggest that one possibility for the decline could include "voter fatigue". In the years between 2018 and 2022, the following elections were held:

- June 2018 Provincial Election
- October 2018 Municipal Election
- October 2019 Federal Election
- September 2021 Federal Election
- June 2022 Provincial Election
- October 2022 Municipal Election

^{}This includes long-term care facilities and hospitals

This means Mississauga voters were called to the polls five times in five years. One helpful adjustment to the election calendar could be to separate Provincial and Municipal elections by a year, however, Municipal Election days are specified in the Municipal Elections Act, 1996 and cannot be changed by the Clerk.

There was also a concern that Election Day coincided with Diwali which could impact voter turnout. While the Clerk could not move Election Day, seven advance voting days were established to provide alternative voting opportunities. Additionally, specific communications were used to let voters know that Election Day fell on Diwali and encouraged voters to vote on Advance Poll Days.

Similar to the turnout during municipal elections, the 2022 Provincial Election saw the lowest voter turnout on record for an Ontario election with an approximate turnout of 44%. The next lowest Ontario voter turnout was in 2011 with a turnout of approximately 48%. https://results.elections.on.ca/en/graphics-charts

A decrease in voter turnout was also observed during the September 2021 Federal Election. Statistics Canada reports:

Quebec was the lone province where voter turnout was higher in 2021 than in the 2019 federal election, rising 1 percentage point to 77%.

Compared with 2019, the proportion of eligible Canadians who reported voting in 2021 fell in Nova Scotia (-5 percentage points to 73%), Alberta (-4 percentage points to 76%), Saskatchewan (-4 percentage points to 77%), New Brunswick (-4 percentage points to 76%), Newfoundland and Labrador (-3 percentage points to 65%), and Ontario (-2 percentage points to 75%).

Voter turnout in 2021 was little changed from 2019 in Prince Edward Island, Manitoba and British Columbia." (Reasons for not voting in the federal election September 20, 2021. Statistics Canada. February 2022. https://www150.statcan.gc.ca/n1/daily-quotidien/220216/dq220216d-eng.htm)

Election Workers

Over 1,700 individual election workers, of which 372 were City staff, were hired to work at the polls. To ensure the workers were best prepared for their responsibilities, extensive training and training materials were provided including:

- Virtual instructor led training (these videos were posted online so election workers could go back and re-watch if they wished)
- An online training module for election workers that were required to use laptops and the online voters' list

 In-person drop in sessions for election workers that were required to use election technology and wanted hands on training

- Election worker manuals
- Election worker quick reference guides for Deputy Returning Officers

In addition to these training methods, a call centre was established so that Location Mangers and Vote Anywhere Supervisors could easily reach Election Office and I.T. staff when they needed help or direction.

Voting Locations

On Election Day, there were 162 voting locations across the City. Of the 162 locations, 101 were schools. For the first time, the school boards agreed to schedule a Professional Activity Day on Election Day so there were no students in the school buildings. This eliminated safety concerns for students and reduced vehicle traffic. It is highly recommended that the school boards continue this practice for the 2026 Municipal Election.

On Advance Poll Days, Vote Anywhere provided voters with the option of voting at one of 22 voting locations across the City on October 13, 14, 15 and 16. Of the approximately 26,000 people who voted on these days, just under 22% voted outside of the Ward in which they live. This demonstrates that voters are using the flexibility provided by Vote Anywhere.

On Election Day, the following locations in each Ward had the highest voter turnout:

Ward	Location with highest turnout	Location with second highest turnout
1	Mississauga Seniors Centre (1,064)	Lakeview Golf Course (849)
2	Clarkson Community Centre (1,799)	Lorne Park Secondary School (1,071)
3	Burnhamthorpe Library (982)	St. Martha and Mary Catholic School (872)
4	Mississauga Valley Community Centre (1,003)	St. Matthew Catholic School (850)
5	Frank McKechnie Community Centre (1,215)	Champlain Trail Public School (960)
6	River Grove Community Centre (1,141)	Edenrose Public School (1,013)
7	Father Daniel Zanon Catholic School (1,051)	Huron Park Community Centre (1,047)
8	South Common Community Centre (1,096)	St. Mark Separate School (812)
9	Meadowvale Community Centre (1,555)	Castlebridge Public School (909)
10	Churchill Meadows Branch Library (1,526)	St. Edith Stein Catholic School (869)
11	David Leeder Public School (761)	Levi Creek Public School (759)

Of the 11 locations with the highest voter turnout, 9 were City facilities.

Communications

Communication about the 2022 Municipal Election was focused on awareness, education, and information. The aim was to ensure Mississauga voters understood how to participate in the election, which included awareness about the importance of municipal government; the importance of voting; when, where and how to vote; as well as showcasing the opportunity and requirements to run as a candidate.

The communication campaign was developed using extensive research and implemented in phases that aligned to major election milestones. It leveraged Mississauga residents' increased adoption and reliance on digital and social media (gained during the COVID-19 response and recovery), while still providing access for those who prefer print media and other traditional channels for information. All information about the election was available on the Mississaugavotes.ca website.

Communications were tailed according the election cycle and implemented in the following phases:

- Phase I: Raising awareness for the upcoming Municipal Election
- Phase II: Candidate awareness and nominations
- Phase III: Recruitment of elections staff (internally and externally)
- Phase IV: Voter awareness
- Phase V: Advanced Polls and Election Day

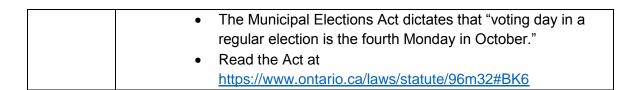

Specific messaging was developed to align with each of the noted phases with the messaging and phases often overlapping:

Throughout each phase, a variety of tactics and outreach methods were used aimed at reaching a broad, diverse audience across the city which included:

- · News releases and media relations
- Updates to the Mississauga Votes website
- Social Media (organic and paid)
- eNewsletter and eBlasts (33,000+ subscribers)
- Voter Notification Cards
- Outreach through community groups
- Railway and highway digital billboards
- Mississauga Celebration Square digital screens
- Community Centre digital screens
- Print advertising in multicultural publications through the Diverse Communities Promotion Program
- Printed Stay Connected newsletter
- Column in local print media
- Mobile Road Signs
- 311 Knowledge Base (KB) updates
- Outreach through faith organization
- Internal messages on Inside Mississauga and through leader emails

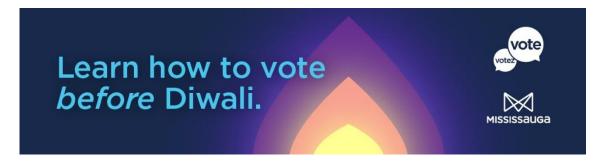

Visual elements were also developed for use throughout the campaign, some of which are highlighted below. The design aimed to ensure all Mississauga voters felt they were included. In addition, extra efforts were made to target those celebrating Diwali, as the 2022 Election Day coincided with Diwali (date selected by the provincial government). Extra efforts were made to share information regarding advance poll opportunities through the website, social media, print media and paid advertising as well as being sent directly to places of worship.

Results

Evaluation of communication efforts noted the following:

- 330,000 impressions (the amount the content was displayed) for organic tactics like posts to the City social media channels, eNews readers (electronic newsletter) and City media releases.
- The Mississauga Votes webpage was visited more than 330,000 times by over 257,000 unique viewers.
- Approximately, 93 per cent of media articles (online and print) included desired key messages about the election and more than 60 per cent of those provided direct links back to the Mississauga Votes website as an official source of information.
- Paid advertising efforts resulted in over 11 million impressions, which drove people to the Mississauga Votes website.

Overall, communications efforts and tactics used were effective in reaching desired audiences and delivering desired messages.

Candidate Financial System

For the second time, candidates were provided with the option of using the Candidate Financial System (CFS), which was housed within the Candidate Information Hub. CFS allowed candidates to input, manage and create their Financial Statements. 50% of all candidates used the system to generate a Financial Statement.

Benefits of the system included:

 Candidates were able to generate electronic rebate receipts for the Election Campaign Contribution Rebate Program as per Council's direction following the 2018 Municipal Election

- Candidates could track campaign finances and were informed if there were contraventions to the campaign finance rules; for example, candidates could not enter contributions that exceeded $1,500 by mistake, allowing the candidate to take corrective action
- In addition to allowing candidates to track their campaign finances and generate their Financial Statement in CFS, the Candidate Information Hub also housed key election documents which provided valuable information about election rules and allowed candidates to access the Voters' List.

Of the total number of candidates who ran in the 2022 municipal election:

- 81% candidates logged into CFS
- 71% candidates created contribution records
- 74% candidates downloaded elections documents
- 75% candidates downloaded the Voters' List

Information was also provided in hard copy for candidates who did not have access to a computer or the internet or for those that preferred hard copies.

2022 Election Campaign Contribution Rebate Program

In 2021, Council approved a new Election Campaign Contribution Rebate Program (Rebate Program) by-law and formula, attached as Appendix 1. This meant that eligible individuals who contributed a minimum of $100 to candidates running for a seat on Council could receive a rebate between $75 and $1,500 depending on the total contribution amount.

For the 2022 Election, electronic rebate receipts were introduced for candidates participating in the Rebate Program. Electronic receipts gave candidates the option to enter contribution information into CFS and issue a rebate receipt electronically to the contributor. Hard copy receipts were also available.

Of the 68 candidates running for a seat on council, 49 participated in the Rebate Program. To date, a total of approximately $711,000 in rebates has been paid to contributors. In 2018, just under $36,000 in rebates was paid out. The increase in rebate payouts is because:

- The Rebate Program was expanded to include all eligible contributors in Ontario, not just Mississauga residents as it was in 2018
- The maximum rebate a contributor could receive was increased from $150 in 2018 to $1,500 in 2022

The formula to calculate a rebate was changed to allow a contributor to receive a rebate of up to 75% of their contribution whereas in 2018 contributors could only receive a rebate of 25% for their contribution

Use of Election Technology

ExpressVote Devices:

The ExpressVote Universal Voting System (ExpressVote) was used for the first time as an alternative to the AutoMARK Voter Assist Terminal. The ExpressVote device was intended to facilitate marking ballots on Advance Poll days. The ExpressVote was an electronic ballot marking machine and the system worked as follows:

- Voters would show their identification to the ballot issuing election workers
- Ballot issuing election workers would vet the voter's eligibility and if the voter met all requirements they would be struck off of the Voter's List
- The election worker would print the appropriate ballot for the voter
- The voter would insert the blank ballot into the ExpressVote machine and would use a touch screen to mark their selections
- They would then have the opportunity to review their candidate choices and if satisfied, the voter would print the ballot
- The voter could then review the printed ballot and make sure they were satisfied with their choices
- Once printed, ballots were inserted into the DS200 vote tabulator

The ExpressVote is not a tabulator; it does not record results nor was there a connection between it and the DS200 vote tabulator.

The majority of voters cast their ballot on Advanced Poll Days used the ExpressVote system. Benefits included:

- That election workers did not have to manage 55 hard copy ballot types and instead could print ballots on demand based on what Ward the voter lived in and their school support
- The ExpressVote offered a variety of accessibility features and allowed all voters to vote in a similar manner unless the voter requested a hard copy traditional ballot which were available upon request

General feedback from both election workers and voters was positive saying the system was easy to use.

Wireless Transmission of Results:

Wireless (mobile) transmission of results was implemented to:

 Reduce the risk of system failure due to expired and/or expiring components in the Election results architecture. Most components of the previous system were replaced.
 Vote tabulators were fitted with modems and sim cards to facilitate mobile transmission

- · Reduce the steps and challenges for election workers when transmitting results
- Allow results to be transmitted and compiled in less time; and
- To increase efficiencies in the process through alignment with current technologies

With the use of wireless results transmission at the close of polls on Election Day, 75% of results were received by 8:30pm and complete unofficial results were published by 10:03pm. Real-time updates were available on the City's Mississaugavotes.ca website from the time of poll close and refreshed every five minutes.

Alternative Voting Methods used by other municipalities:

According to the Ministry of Municipal Affairs and Housing, of the 382 municipalities that provided information to them:

- 181 used traditional paper ballots
- 221 municipalities used internet based voting
- 69 municipalities used mail in ballots

It should be noted that some municipalities used one or more of the above noted voting methods.

The Association of Municipalities of Ontario (AMO) also gathered statistics on voting methods. Although the information differs slightly from the Ministry's statistics, which may be related to the number of municipalities polled, AMO reports that 42 additional municipalities used internet/phone voting compared to the 2018 election. They also report that the use of mail-in ballots for the 2022 election remained the same at 71 municipalities. The diagram below from AMO indicates the breakdown of voting methods across Ontario municipalities for the 2022 Municipal Election stemming from the results of their survey. Again, municipalities may have used one or any combination of the methods noted below.

As noted previously, AMCTO (Association of Municipal Clerks and Treasurers of Ontario) is also conducting a detailed survey and review of the 2022 election. Once this report is shared it will be provided to Council for information.

Due to security and privacy concerns the City of Toronto opted not to use online voting and the City of Guelph did not use it this time around. Additionally, City of Hamilton, due to the cost of implementation, internet availability and risk of performance issues in rural areas did not pursue online voting.

A Corporate Report entitled Internet Voting Information Update previously presented to General Committee on September 9, 2020, attached as Appendix 2, provided information regarding online voting. It identified security and performance considerations related to the technology. I.T. has noted that the risks presented in the report related to the authentication of voters' remain the same.

Candidate Survey

Following the 2022 Municipal Election, Council directed staff to circulate a candidate survey to all candidates. The intention was to gather information that could improve the election experience. 30 of 131 candidates responded to the survey. The full survey questions and responses are attached as Appendix 3 and the Appendix 4. Highlights of the responses were:

- 40% of respondents "strongly agreed" that the Vote Anywhere model was effective and 26.67% "agreed" that it was effective
- 73.33% of respondents felt there were a sufficient number of polling locations on Advance Poll Days
- 90% of respondents felt that there were a sufficient number of voting locations on Election Day
- Many candidates expressed concerns related to election signs. However, 60% of respondents did not support election sign restrictions such as the City of Brampton's restrictions where election signs were only permissible in windows or windows in doors
- When asked about the voter turnout in Mississauga, 8 candidates referenced voter apathy or a lack of voter engagement as being factors contributing to lower turnout and 3 noted a lack of media attention being a factor

Financial Impact

The cost of the 2022 Municipal Election was approximately $2,800,000, which was funded through the Elections reserve. This does not include the amount related to Election Campaign Contribution Rebate Program payouts, which totaled approximately $711,000. There is no financial impact associated with this Report.

Conclusion

The 2022 Municipal Election was a success and resulted in four new members of Council and six new school board trustees. Access to the voting process was ensured by providing many locations for voting on both advance and election days to try to provide a variety of opportunities to cast a ballot. Although turnout decreased, the decrease was less than most municipalities and results were published in record time.

Internet Voting Information Update

Recommendation

That the Corporate Report dated June 24, 2020 from the Commissioner of Corporate Services and Chief Financial Officer, titled Internet Voting Information Update be received.

Report Highlights

- Internet voting may provide additional accessibility for voters with internet access, making it more convenient for voters to vote online
- The secrecy of voting online cannot be controlled or monitored as well as it can be in a polling location staffed with election workers
- IT staff have identified security and performance considerations related to the technology and the authentication of voters
- The ability to recount physical ballots for votes cast online is not available

Background

At the November 4, 2019 Governance Committee meeting it was requested that staff report back to the committee on the subject of internet voting.

Internet voting can occur in a supervised (controlled) environment via a kiosk or in an unsupervised (uncontrolled) environment via any personal computer or mobile device. The latter is the method most commonly understood as remote internet voting. Generally, in Ontario, an elector is required to register for remote internet voting and then they are provided with a unique personal identification number (PIN) by mail to use along with personal information (e.g. date of birth) for validation to access the online.

Comments

Benefits and Drawbacks

The benefits to using internet voting include:

- Convenience as voters' do not have to go to a voting location
- The ability for voters to cast their vote 24 hours a day during the internet voting period
- Accessibility for voters' who cannot go to a voting location and do not want to appoint a proxy to vote on their behalf
- Given the current COVID19 outbreak it may present as a benefit for physical distancing, for those with compromised immune systems and provides an option for those in the community who may not feel safe to participate in the election process
- Provides some relief for traffic congestion and parking congestion at polling locations as well as some benefit to reducing vehicle related carbon emissions

The drawbacks to internet voting may include:

- Alienating those voters who do not have internet access or accessibility devices to access these services online; in these cases voters may be able to go to a designated public location such as a library or community center to cast their vote, however this eliminates the benefit to those who find it difficult to physically attend a voting location
- The method of remote internet voting provides little or no opportunity for election staff to ensure the integrity of the voter vetting process when the voter logs in to vote
- Staff cannot prevent coercion when the elector goes to vote
- Staff cannot ensure that voter privacy is maintained
- Staff cannot ensure that legislated requirements related to identification and access are not compromised
- Scrutineers are unable to fully observe the ballot issuing process to help ensure the integrity of the process
- Staff does not have the ability to manually verify the integrity of the information transmitted
- Without paper ballots the ability to conduct a manual recount is not an option
- It is difficult to determine whether or not internet voting has a significant impact on voter turnout if any. Academic sources have reported that implementing Internet Voting has no major effect on voter turnout in the majority of municipalities nor does Internet Voting seem to significantly impact youth interest in voting
- Technology Cyber risks and impacts could result in a loss of internet voting service during scheduled polling times and in the worst case scenario could result in a privacy breach and/or invalidation of casted internet votes

If internet voting is approved and implemented, staff recommends the use of paper ballot voting simultaneously. This would mean added costs to the overall election budget, but would be necessary to accommodate voters who do not have access to internet or who, for security reasons, would prefer to vote in person. Should there be a desire to use internet voting it is recommended that this be piloted for Advance Polls only.

Electors Skills, Knowledge and Security Awareness

Individuals with more experience and confidence in using technology are more likely to be able to vote online. Because of this, developing and implementing a change management and communication program would play a large part in improving digital literacy of the electors in regards to internet voting.

For example, election administrators are not able to control the security of the internet devices used by electors to vote remotely. An elector must be made aware of the risks and take measures to secure their own devices. This is because an elector may unknowingly be using a device that has been compromised with illicit software that could direct them to a fraudulent election site, duplicate their personal information and/or change their vote. Ultimately, elections staff have no control over the environment or devices that electors use and therefore rely on individuals to ensure the security of their devices.

I.T. Security and Audit

Information Technology and election administration staff has identified security concerns surrounding internet voting. It is important to note that security breaches, while unlikely, can only be mitigated rather than eliminated. Security attacks could occur via breached personal computers, mobile devices or attacks on the internet voting system itself. A hacker could block access, corrupt voting information and gain access to the voter registration website and in effect, compromise the privacy and integrity of the election process.

As previously mentioned, these risks can be mitigated but not eliminated entirely. Mitigation measures include:

- Conducting independent security tests of the vendor's systems
- Ensuring that industry standards and procedures regarding privacy and security are in place

Presently, no national technical standards exist for certifying online voting systems, auditing or verifying the results produced. As far as staff are aware none of the current internet voting systems produces an accompanying physical trail and provides little or no online equivalent for a risk limiting audit.

Another point of concern for staff is that there is no mechanism for a manual recount because there are no paper ballots to verify the vote. Unlike with the use of paper ballots, there is no mechanism that allows the voter or election official to confirm that the votes are legitimate. Even if a breach is detected, the risk exists that we may not be able to determine with complete certainty which ballots are valid.

Additionally, unlike with paper ballots and vote tabulators, a physical audit of the results cannot be conducted. Following each election, staff conducts an audit to ensure that results were not compromised during transmission. It is the use of paper ballots and vote counting machines that allow for this process. With Internet Voting, both in a controlled and uncontrolled environment, this is not possible.

Secrecy and Identification

In a remote internet voting scenario, ensuring the secrecy and privacy of the vote during the voting process poses challenges. In a paper ballot election, election workers monitor voting areas to ensure that electors have the ability to mark their ballots in complete secrecy. However, with remote internet voting, the voting environment is unsupervised. Directions, rules and possible penalties for non-compliance would be provided to electors, who are voting from remote locations, but ultimately they are voting in an unmonitored environment. Electors would have to provide for their own secrecy and privacy. Additionally, there is concern that there may be more opportunity for situations to arise where undue influence or coercion can be placed on voters.

In a paper ballot election, election workers use a prescribed list of identification from the Ministry of Municipal Affairs and Housing to vet voters before giving them a ballot. This process is not as seamless with remote internet voting. To reduce the risk of identity fraud, and people voting on the behalf of others, a combination of a personal identification number (PIN) and personal information, such as birthdate, are typically used to verify identity. However, this does not eliminate the risk. An individual who has intimate knowledge of the elector and/or a part of the household may have access to the elector Voter Notification Card and hence their PIN and could potentially vote on behalf of others.

Financial Impact

The financial impact of implementing Internet Voting is dependent on a variety of factors including:

- Additional staffing costs required to provide I.T. and administrative support
- Technology costs related to Internet Voting
- Additional mailing costs to issue a PIN to electors
- Communications and education initiatives

Online Voting Project costs		Cost
	Project Coordinator	$141,000
Stoffing	Business Analyst – Technical	$165,000
Staffing	Elections Officer	$80,000
	2 Technicians – Call centre	$95,000
Software	e-Voting licence
Software	Election Night Results	$13,000
Validation	Security and Performance Test	$95,000
	Voter cards for PINs and instructions	$90,000
Mailing	Secrecy envelopes (PIN)	$72,000
	Postage cost (PIN)	$419,000
Communications	Increase in communications support	$65,000
Communications	Additional resources on election day	$10,000
TOTAL		$1,673,000

These costs are estimates. Vendors may include additional costs which will be identified through the procurement process.

Currently there is no budget to fund this cost. If approved, we will require the full amount of this cost to be added as part of the total Election budget for 2022.

Conclusion

Although internet voting is an option for the 2022 Municipal Election, a dual process of a paper ballot election and internet would be recommended which would increase the cost of the election significantly. The convenience of internet voting must be considered along with the cost, security and administrative constraints concerns raised in this report. Staff will continue to monitor the opportunity for internet voting for future elections beyond the 2022 municipal election.

Too often voters choose based on name recognition. But really what do they know of the candidate and the candidates platform? Signs cost so much and say so little.

 $\ \, \text{Time and money could have been spent on less environmentally damaging methods of communications. Ra} \quad \, 1$ dio, TV and Electronic Billboards are examples.

The sign war is horrific & they're removed or stolen so what's the point! Also what a waste & clutter that can 1 not be recycled so this plastic sits in landfill for years.

that help the voters and enough time to study about the candidates	1
Signs are a huge pain and very expensive but to be the only one not using them would be problematic to m y campaign. I would support a sign ban	1
Signs are a a blight and pose sight and other issues. Too many candidates barrage the place with unwanted signs or signs that residents do not understand.	1
NA	1
Most candidates who won didn't follow rules at all and they were given freehand by sign regulation authority.	1
Local media and NGOs made no attempt to interview candidates of hold debates or town halls.	1
Every ward in all major cities had stories of signs being taken down, picked up or residents not giving permi ssion. Big expense and labour, chasing or putting back up signs - useless in my mind.	1
Environmental concerns and there were some signs illegally installed or removed.	1
A huge cost and source of waste, vandalism and distraction that gives further advantage to the incumbent, a lmost always wealthier. Our lack of Council diversity is a directly tied to these inequities.	1
Signs should have a size dimension. Also, a signed permission form from the home owner allowing the lawn sign to be up should be implemented. Not enough monitoring signs on public properties.	1

10. In your opinion, what are the benefits to allowing the use of election signs?

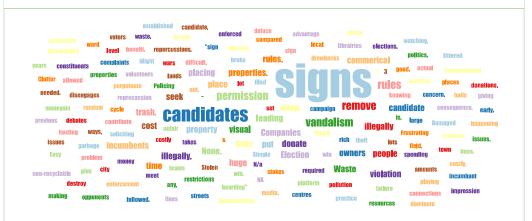

Response Count

They allow candidates without name recognition to be better known.	2
voters can select and study about voters.	1
Visibility. A show of support from people that agree to put them on their lawn.	1
Visibility, candidate awareness for electors, Name recognition, awareness of the Election, educating the electors of different positions for election.	1
There are no major benefits. There has been a steady decline in voter engagement and turnout even as ca mpaign expenses have risen. We have been doing little to correct course and it is a disaster.	1
The most obvious benefit of lawn signs is name recognition and awareness that an election is coming up.	1
The incumbent have huge advantage going into elections. Whereas the first timer have disadvantages. Ther e should be a limit of two term for mayor, councillors and trustees.	1
Signs do help initially with recognition but that's where the benefits end	1
Residents see their options - and may be enticed to look into the candidate more.	1

Publicity	1
Notifies community that there is an election	1
Name recognition.	1
Name recognition ans awarness	1
NA	1
More exposure.	1
More advertising chance	1
Know your Candidate.	1
It is counterproductive for genuine candidates who don't have staff nor money to do what wealthy candidates s do.	e 1
It gets your name out there. People see it when walking/driving around your community.	1
it allows non-voters or new citizens to be aware of the upcoming election	1
I personaly feel digital media is better to save trees. And strongly recomandation for it.	1
Getting to meet people and better engagement	1
For School Trustees there are zero all candidates meetings or any debate whatsoever about the role. Signs are the only valid way to get your name out there.	1
Election signs show a presence and identify candidates to the public.	1
Candidate's name recognition in respective ward. However, the incumbent was violating the election by-law sign repeatedly & even when their signs were removed by the city they would put up again.	1
Candidate Identity Putting a name to a face	1
Allows a candidate to get their name out there	1

Vandalism, theft, illegally placed by campaign teams - not knowing the rules set out. Frustrating when no re precussion takes place and signs are placed on illegal lands

A very few voters only watching.	1
Affordability for new candidate. Especially if established incumbant has years of making connections for don ations. 1 candidate can dominate the ward with signs giving impression to undecided	1
Clutter, too many, non-recyclable waste.	1
Easy for opponents to deface, remove, and destroy which is costly.	1
Election signs give candidates with more resources a huge benefit. It does not level the playing field. incum bents take advantage of constituents who have prime lots by soliciting them early.	1
Election signs should be allowed however, city enforcement of rules being followed & fines enforced for viol ation of by-law to be immediate at time of violation needed. This practice was not followed.	1
Environmental issues, littered streets failure to remove them afterwards, are serious issues.	1
I don't see any. Only problem is that there is a lot of vandalism happening this time compared to previous el ections. Also, people remove lawn signs illegally.	1
Incumbents will just place their signs wherever they want without repercussions. I filed many complaints, an d nothing was ever done.	1
It centres moneynin politics. We should be hosting more town halls un local librairies so people can meet th encandiates	1
Many places illegally with no consequence. Waste of money and creation of huge amounts of garbage	1

Illegal to ban signs. Banning them is just a massive advantage to incumbents.	2
Why want restrictions.	1
This amendment would allow small signs only so less costly. Over abundant of signs from each candidate cr owding on the lawns would be eliminated . That said I do approve of signs as a visual .	1
The Supreme Court of Canada has already weighed in on this. You can't ban signs.	1
The signs need to be seen at the street. This is a non issue.	1
The should be allowed in public spaceotherwise it gives to much power to business and land owners to re strict sign posting	1
the point of signs it to show them visable	1
Signs should just be limited to key intersections permitted by the city (as other municipalities do). This would reduce the clutter, garbage & cost for candidates.	1
Restrictions are never good.	1
reduces the posibility of election signs	1

Reduce cost, reduce waste, increase direct resident engagement and hopefully result in more willingness of candidates and media to focus less on visuals and more on issues, debates, results!	1
Not enough viewers	1
No comment	1
Lawn signs are important to get the name recognition. Displaying windows and doors gives advantage to in cumbent. Lawn signs are important for unknown candidates.	1
It's important for candidates to have more ways to engage voters, not be constricted. Voter turnout should be the primary focus on elections moving forward.	1
It would prevent Stolen or Damaged Signs, or Signs put up without permission. There is the environmental c ost that should be addressed.	1
It would certainly go a long way to limiting size, amount of signs both cluttering the roadway and in illegal/un safe places	1
It has to be visable	1
In windows would be good because they would/could not be removed from lawns by others.	1
Cant be removed by malicious intent. Signs should not be plastered all around mall property or on develop ment fencingsends a message that the incumbant "owns" that property or developer area.	1
Because that foolish by-law only benefits incumbents, who already have an unfair advantage. Election signs should only be allowed on Private property, and candidates who break this law should be punis	1
Excellent idea! It prevents damage to property and vandalism to signs. It also levels the playing field a lot m ore. It gives candidates the opportunity to spend money on other priorities.	1

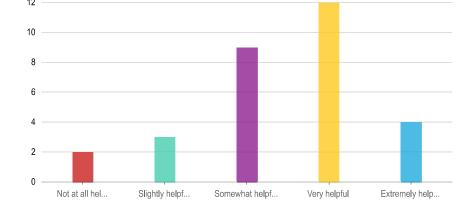

13. Are there voting technologies or other voting methods (for example mail-in ballots) that...

Response	Count
Yes	3
No	2
Mail-in Ballots should be allowed. They have a long history of safety and for people who cannot leave their homes or require Transhelp they would save a significant effort to go to polls.	2
Young voters do not vote because it's too much work for them. If the voting is done on line large number of people will vote from the comfort of their home, specially young voters.	1

Yes, online voting is a great idea. But keep mail in ballots for the elderly or people less technical inclined.	1
Vote by app/phone or call in voting.	1
Two part question. The first part is answered and for mail-in ballots, old idea, that should be electronic like ECO does.	R 1
The voting statistics show that people are not exercising their democratic right. Educating the public, after I ing in this country for decades people are not aware of the role of the Trustees.	iv 1
Paper voting is best - we need more days to vote, election day should also be a paid holiday. Other needed reforms include ranked ballots, polling at all higher ed campuses and online voting.	1 1
Online voting. Allowing voters to vote using their smartphones will increase voter turnout from its appalling 1.8%.	2 1
ONLINE and Yes MAIL IN BALLOTS	1
Mail-in ballots would be amazing. Many I spoke to requested for their to be Mail-in ballots. They would be no ore likely to vote then. Could be a great way to take down barriers for our residents.	n 1
Mail-in ballots are needed for the Elderly, Sick or those not technically inclined Online voting would have increased voters "Turn Out" and engagement.	c 1
Mail in ballots recommended	1
Mail in ballots lead to fraud so no there is no technology to enhance access.	1
Mail in and online voting may be helpful to engage more voters.	1
I support ONLY manual and in-person ballots. I do not support mail-in nor electronic or technology options. ONLY manual and in person.	1
How about refunds for School Trustees running? Or tax writeoffs?	1
having the option of online voting would increase voter engagement. Being able to vote from home with an D and code would facilitate people who might avoid going out to vote.	I 1
Any methods that could remove barriers to participation would be welcomed, esp. given the low turnout rates s during municipal elections.	e 1

The separation of municipal forms from general election forms.	1
The office and staff were great. Communication was amazing.	1
The election office should eliminate Hub program, its useless and extremely time consuming for candidates. They should email to all candidates rather putting information on Hub.	. 1
Nothing	1
More guidance, and better communication from the Elections Office would have been appreciated - my experience as a candidate was truly awful.	1
Knowledge on demographics of who voted and in what areas would certainly allow for more dedicated mes aging that would go a long way to talk directly to what matters	s 1
Info provided earlier and more staffing to the Elections Office, at times overwhelmed. More staff to manage he election system (for more days) and more staff for voter education/outreach, year-round.	t 1
I think the voter's list should have been available earlier - at the time of registration. Incumbents have the advantage of previous lists whereas new candidates have a much harder time catching up.	1 1
I charge lot of money for advising.	1
eligible voters out of date. Did not have an accurate list of eligible voters. Eligible voters shown in mississauga actually belonged to another city. Number of eligible voters	. 1
Check the street names and addresses before publishing.	1
Being able to receive the actual voter's list after the election day for candidate's respective ward. More hand son support for the responsibilities of a candidate rather than directing to print.	i 1
Basically the School Trustee election is an after thought and isn't really democratic as there are no all cand dates meetings or ways to discuss the issues.	i 1
Actually reprimanding candidates who break rules and regulations that candidates are supposed to follow.	1

I would prefer the number of endorsements was raised to cut back on unserious candidates. Having to gath er signatures is time consuming so only serious candidates will invest the time.	2
Voters list should be made available when one files their nomination. Incumbents should not be allowed to host any Ward specific events after April of an election year, and even more advance polls.	1
they are fine	1
These seem good but a review should be done after all these years. More days to vote, ranked ballots, no e lection lawn signs should be enshrined plus language for online voting added as an option.	1
The Municipal Elections Act, 1996 should be amended and allow candidates to have final listing of voters, w ho voted so they can call the voters and thank them.	1
Nomination fee to be higher. It is too low & allows for people to pay $100 to get a voter's list & access to info for this fee if they are not committed to being a candidate but for other reasons.	1
No refunds for fee., because the voters list is not to be given freely to people to promote their private busine sses. People who lose their election must be prepared to lose their deposit.	1
No barrier to entry. More endorsements should be required, along with a higher fee.	1

I think the incumbent mayor should have been allowed to campaign door to door with Ward Candidate's. Un fair advantage and although not against the rules, it shows a bad form.	1
For campaigns less than a certain amount there should be no requirement for an audit for that campaign to participate in the rebate program. Rebates should be tax credits.	1

Covid apathy similar to what was seen in Province & 3 elections in a year. Too few polling locations in comp ared to other levels of Government. Shorter term residents less engaged = hard to address.	2
voters are not interested or some times they were bussy.	1
Voters are losing faith in elected officials who are not listening to the needs of the voters after they are elect ed rather do whatever they want. And, each year it appears this is getting worse.	1
Voter fatigue, following the June election for MPP	1
There was no TV, Radio or internet advertisement of the Mississauga Election. There was no engagement fr om the voters, and no push for their involvement. This Works in favor of those already Elected	1
there was a Holiday that day and the province should have moved it. Although there was plenty of advance polls but people dont think ahead. Mail in or on line should be explored	1
The secret meetings where the results were pre decided.	1
The main factors the turn out is low voters assume that incumbents are going to win, so why bother! Other f actors is the online voting. If the voters have options to vote online the number will go up	1
Poor dissemination of information	1
People dont trust politics and thry dont know what local leaders do for them	1
People are not invested in municipal politics, especially school board races.	1
No mayoral race! Also pandemic COVID fatigue plus bad timing after provincial election.	1
No mail in balloting, no online voting, & lack of engagement There should be a requirement that more than 5 1% of the voter's must have voted, or the vote is null. The incumbents will push 4 more voters	1
No discussions about the issues.	1
Lack of media on the election, voter apathy, and non-mandated candidates debates. Debates should be mandatory so that residents can get to know their candidates and make an informed decision.	1

Lack of media coverage.	1
Incombants don't want to change, therefore, don't waste time.	1
I noticed many people of colour were unaware of the election. The city should invest into advertising in thos e communities. Mississauga is a diverse city, and the election should reflect that.	1
I believe complacency is a factor in Mississauga because of incumbency. Term limits would reduce this apat hy.	1
Horrific lack of voter education by the City, less than prior years (remember the contest?), no workshops, to o few voting days, COVID impacts and mental health burnout, plus weak media landscape.	1
General lack of knowledge as to why municipal government matters. Almost zero engagement with younger generations. No debates for candidates outside of the mayoral race.	1
General lack of interest.	1
General cynicism around politics and relatively poor understanding of the role of municipal elected officials.	1
Awareness in comon man We should make fine if person does not vote	1
Apathy. People feel that their voice (vote) does not matter in politics. A MMP system provincially and federall y would help, even in municipal positions that are supported by the two main parties.	1
1. People have lost faith in the system at all levels 2. Diwali 3. No real noise about the election - some people thought it was only in Toronto b/c it was on the news	1

The way incumbents use their experience on 'how to win an election' and indirectly attack new candidates. Candidates using other people's names, positions endorsements to promote themselves.	1
The threats and hatred that find target in people that step into the political arena is disheartening. No excus e, but when people feel their voices don't matter that's how energy tends to express.	1

Incumbents did have to go door knocking and win the election by huge margin. Their names or lawn signs a re good enough to win, No all candidates debate was done to float the new and improved ideas	1
I had an awful experience as a candidate - I felt extremely uncomfortable interacting with the clerk at the Elections Office - she was rude, racist and very unhelpful. Very disappointing	a 1

How little help the city staff provided.	1
How few people living in apartment buildings vote.	1

c. What could have improved your experience?

Nothing within the city's control	2
True electoral change, initiated by the people running. Example: If the Mayoral Candidates agreed to a first post past system, then that would be used.	1
The tighter regulations and more control at municipal level. There should be less influence from the parties.	1
No comment	1
more time to spent election campain	1
More outreach and engagement with residents from the city/local media as a "foundation" for more candidat es to have a chance. We need more staff, more education and new ways to vote, for more days.	1
More hands on support about finances. Town halls so people could come and listen to the candidates. Local televised debates.	1
Instead of doing the rebate program, every candidate gets $10k from the city. No other funding. Let the can didates play with equal footing. Any improper spending must be paid back to the city.	1
If the city ran town halls in local librairies and partnered with local news to get introductions ofncandidates o ut	1
I felt that the people at the Elections office were highly responsive, professional, and kind. Our elections work very well, but the political process needs to be revamped to be more inclusive.	1
Honestly you would not do anything since you are the problem.	1
